ABOUT AUT

University Mission

The mission of AUT is to provide an innovative, TECHNOLOGY-RICH, ENTREPRENEURIAL, EXPERIENTIAL university learning environment that produces CIVICALLY ACTIVE and MARKET-READY graduates.

University History

American University of Technology was founded by Mrs Ghada Hinain in 1998 in Fidar- Halat, Lebanon as a not for profit, private institution of higher education under the name American University College of Technology(AUCT) and obtained its presidential decree 2143 in January 2000. The Tripoli off-campus program started operations in 2002, Now AUT has a third campus in Akkar. The Tripoli Campus moved to Ras Masqua - Koura

AUT offers 23 majors at an undergraduate level (Bachelor) and 4 graduate programs (masters) under three faculties: Business Administration, Applied Sciences and Arts and Humanities.

With over 3000 alumni and about 1500 current students and 90 full-time and part-time instructors and 65 staff employees, AUT has been successful in giving each of its students personal attention, quality education, and international exposure that enhance considerably the career prospects of its graduates

Accreditation

AUCT obtained full university status on January 18, 2008 by decree 8465 and became American University of Technology (AUT) with both bachelor and master degree programs accredited by the Ministry of Higher Education in Lebanon.

The Keynote Speaker

Mr. Jacques Sarraf

CEO of Malia Group

Recipient of Doctorate Honoris Causa

Jacques Sarraf is a Lebanese entrepreneur and the esteemed Chairman of the Board at Malia Group.

Before assuming this role, Mr. Sarraf served as Group CEO for over three decades, during which he was the driving force behind the Group's growth and expansion.

Under his dynamic leadership, Malia Group has become a prominent player in pharmaceuticals, consumer goods, technology, and hospitality, establishing a significant presence in the Middle East.

Mr. Sarraf is also the Chairman of the Global Lebanese Investors, where he champions the interests of Lebanon and fosters economic ties with the Lebanese community abroad.

His commitment to economic development is further evidenced by his role as a Member of the Lebanese Economic Bodies, actively engaging in shaping economic policies and strategies in Lebanon.

In addition to his extensive business acumen, Jacques Sarraf serves as the Honorary Consul of the Russian Federation in Lebanon and as Chairman of the Lebanese-Russian Business Council.

These positions underscore his dedication to strengthening bilateral relations between Lebanon and Russia, promoting trade, investment, and cultural exchange.

His contributions to the industrial sector are recognized through his ten-year presidency of the Lebanese Industrial Association, followed by his position as the Dean of ALI, where he advocates for the growth and modernization of Lebanon's industrial landscape.

Jacques Sarraf is also the Chairman of the Saint Porphyrios Association, demonstrating his commitment to social and philanthropic causes and playing a significant role in supporting community welfare and development.

Mr. Sarraf holds a diploma in Business Management. He is married and a proud father of three daughters.

Throughout his illustrious career, Jacques Sarraf has been honored with numerous international medals and awards, recognizing his exceptional contributions to business, diplomacy, and community service, including the Award of Friendship from the Russian President Vladimir Putin in 2002 and the Award of Cavaliere Dell'Ordine Della Stella D'Italia from the President of Italy, Sergio Mattarella in 2017.

His visionary leadership, coupled with his unwavering commitment to economic and social development, continues to inspire and drive positive change in Lebanon and beyond.

ALMA MATER

We love your shadows AUT when twilight falls silently,
Heralding men and women that would mark eternity,
Beneath the sky we'll gather to give our faith lovingly,
Sing our love for Alma Mater that praises AUT.

From thy scenes we wander strong with wisdom and pride,
Your spirit inspires when life's challenges we bide,
To face the sun tame the winds and dare carefree
Sing your faith in alma Mater that praises AUT.
